

This Week...

That was easily, hands-down, the most exhausting week of the summer – and I didn't even go to Camelback!

We started right where we left off, with an Eeshay Rush Chinese auction, led by our esteemed Rush Yeshiva, R' Glatt. Everyone enjoyed watching others compete and guessing the potential winners in Off Track Betting. Minute to Win It was another highlight full of fun, often tasty, challenges in a game show format, led by none other than R' Glatt. All the while, the usual sports, swimming, and crafts were going on.

It was at this point that R' Glatt felt it would be humorous to see if I can run the camp by myself, with the help of Moshe Frishman and Yoni Sims (who have been AMAZING!). Thankfully, we recruited R' Friedler and Baruch Tzvi Greenwald to serve as reinforcements on Thursday and Friday. R' Glatt was also kind enough to make the cholent a day early to ensure that we still have our Oneg erev Shabbos.

On Thursday, while the Juniors enjoyed a few hours at Chuck E Cheese, the Seniors seemed to have been away for over 24 hours, enjoying camp Eeshay in Passaic before heading to Camelback. Thankfully, some of them still made it to camp the next morning (though some reportedly needed water to be encouraged to get out of bed). All in all, a successful week, Baruch Hashem!

Enjoy those Eeshay Magnets, and have a great Shabbos Chazak!
